The Connection to the Sea

"When you pass through the waters, I will be with you..." — Isaiah 43:2

The sea has always been a reminder of God's unfailing love for us. There's power, grace, and peace in each encounter with the sea, and in this piece I hoped to convey our human connection with God's beauty. Thank you Arts Alive for allowing me to be a part of this talented community of artists. @salty_lenz

4. Dody Crawford

Who's Creating Your Reality?

"Throughout his life, Bob Nanninga imparted many admonitions. In today's world, This one is particularly poignant."

2. Diana Bartletti

Bivalve and Stars

A bivalve shell floats with starfish in a sea of color along the Coast Highway.

5. Carly Dudek

The Modern Mermaid

Carly Dudek is a local artist and elementary school teacher. Born and raised in Encinitas, Carly has memories of this beach town in her heart wherever she goes. She is excited to be part of this year's Arts Alive exhibit with fellow artist, and mother, Diane Dudek.

3. Carolyn Roy Cope

Moonset Over the Pacific

One very early morning, on a special winter day, the moon, seen in full glow, seems to rest for a bit before continuing westward over the glistening expanse of the tranquil Pacific. As the sun slowly rises in the east, a spectacular pastel moonset is created. Sparkling warmth casts a pale pastel glow as night slowly ends and a new day begins. A genuine gift to all.

Return of Mia

This is my first time participating in the Arts Alive event. I'm always working in digital format so it was nice to get my hands dirty again. My ambition is to achieve great things within a world that is always moving forward, never stagnant, and continues to excite me every day.

Living Wall

We are fortunate to be able to enjoy so many species of succulents here in San Diego. Interestingly, it was a recent trip to the New York Botanical Garden that inspired my painting. There are so many unique kinds and beautiful colors. This is my fourth year participating in Arts Alive and I love being a part of this creative community.

Last Chance

This is Gaia, the Goddess of Earth, showing us what she has generously given us. She has been patient and kind, knowing that we now have the means to properly take full responsibility for care of the planet. However, if we choose to ignore that duty, she also carries a sword. For the moment, the choice is ours. This is our last chance to do things the easy way.

12. Kathi McCord

Paparazzi and the Mermaid

Getting away from the paparazzi in this day and age is almost impossible, even for the elusive mermaid. Here she is, trying to blend in with her surroundings and lurking, lurking, lurking are the paparazzi...sigh.

9. Chris Law

Divine Spark

13. Christine Michel

The Swimming Mermaid

Growing up by the ocean, I have always been inspired by the beauty of the coast! I love the way it has always brought a feeling of peace and enchantment to me. I have decided to reflect this feeling in my painting, "The Swimming Mermaid." I hope that my use of bright colors and joyful, whimsical subject matter will bring the same sense of happiness that I feel from living in such a beautiful environment!

10. Janet Lawless Christ

So Serene This Paradise

One of my favorite sayings is, "If you want to view paradise, simply look around and view it." We are the luckiest people on Earth to live in glorious and serene San Diego County. Everyday, remind yourself to simply look around and view paradise.

14. Martin Nasim

Pineapple Power

I was inspired to create this piece by my recent visit to the islands of Hawaii. I'm moved and fascinated by the folklore—the use of ornament, patterns, and flow translated very often to beautiful "Tiki" totems, "Tatau" tattoo designs, and drawings showing native flora and fauna. History states - showing the greeting (sticking out of tongue) determines if you've come to fight or you've come in peace.

Good Luck and Wisdom

Finding my place in life becoming a single mom to my 3 boys! The elephant represents courage and strength, and it has given me the courage to stay strong and get through everything life throws my way.

16. Heather Pardi

Heartbeat of Sea and Sun

I'm very thankful to Arts Alive for the opportunity to participate in this event two years in a row! I have a passion for mandalas, and these freehand designs are some of the biggest I have drawn. I let the art guide my brush to find its flow and color. This banner is the creation I didn't know I had been envisioning.

You can find me on Instagram at @inkyfingersart.

20. Naimeh Tanha Woodward

Summer of '67

When I was a young girl, I often dreamed about driving a VW bus all over. I never got to fulfill this dream with the VW but managed to visit many places around the world. This old bus was parked on 101, so I decided to rekindle the dream. And, who knows, maybe I will get to go places with an electrical VW bus.

The artist's share of the proceeds from the sale of this banner will benefit Encinitas Friends of the Arts. encinitasarts.org.

Something Coming Through

I am an abstract painter working in both acrylics and oils. I have lived and worked in Encinitas for over forty years and feel fortunate every day for being able to live in this beautiful place. Many thanks to Danny and Norma for all their hard work to make this event happen.

18. Kylie Schwartz

Gentle Giant

Gazing into the big, beautiful eyes of a giraffe, all I see is pure peace. I wanted to capture that. "Gentle Giant" represents the beauty that is born when animal and nature become one.

My name is Kylie and I am a freshman at SDA. This is my first banner and I have absolutely fallen in love with the Arts Alive program!

23. Ryder Unsworth

Basiliscus Plumifrons

The plumed basilisk lizard lives in the rainforests of Central America. It is known for the ability to run across the surface of water, and called the 'Jesus Christ Lizard.' Basilisks are arboreal, living in the trees above rivers. They are omnivorous, eating fruits and insects. Males grow up to three feet long with crests along the head, back and tail. They can also swim, holding their breath for 30 minutes.

25. Laura K. Woodward

Safe Haven

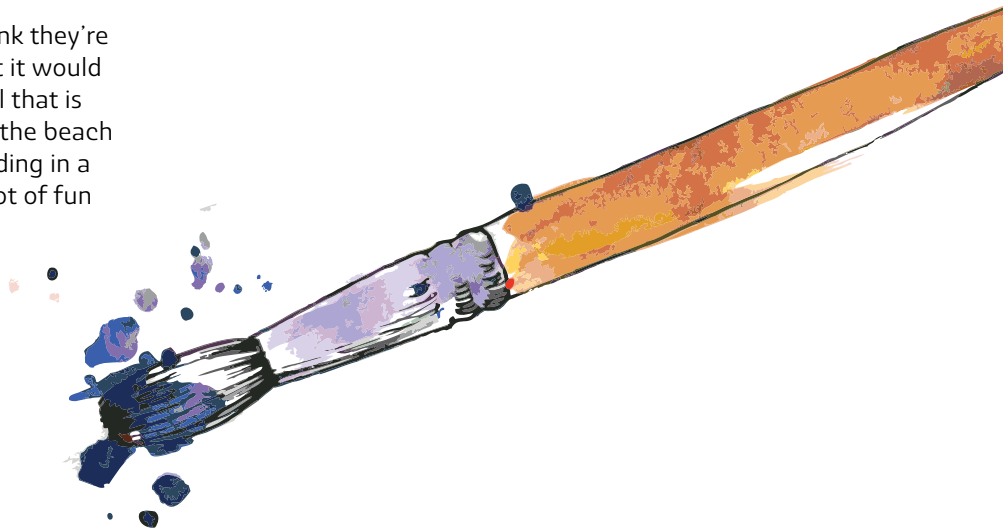

The brightly colored clown fish lives safely nestled into the sea anemone for protection from predators, immune from its stinging tentacles. The clown fish provides the sea anemone food from its leftovers, keeps it clean, and helps circulate the water around it, providing needful oxygen. They live together in perfect symbiotic cooperation.

24. Isabella Weaver

Surfer Deer

I really like deer because I think they're so cool looking, and I thought it would be amusing to have an animal that is not typically associated with the beach holding a surfboard and standing in a human-like position. I had a lot of fun painting this piece.

27. Lauren A. Bartram

MC Hammer Pink Panther

As a tattooer, I am always drawn to clean, bold, and captivating imagery. This year, I wanted to pay homage to my dad's 90s-era MC Hammer pants, which always sported over the top designs and vibrant colors. I also wanted to emphasize visibility so that once the banners are hanging on the street it can be easily identified. And besides, who doesn't like a good sassy pink panther?

Tree Goddess Magic

Trees symbolize strength, security, family, shelter, wisdom and protection. Many times, with a heavy heart and a weary head, I sought out the company and counsel of a wise old tree. May the Magical Spirit of the Tree bless you, and bring you what you need the most.

HappyTails – Dog Beach, Del Mar

- Frolicking on the beach with our chocolate lab, Basil, is our favorite pastime. Playful excitement to happy exhaustion. Breathing fresh salt air, the beauty of the sea, meeting others, a pause in the day with presence. Best comedy and live entertainment.
- View dog beach paintings at ArtNSol.com, Ki's Restaurant, and Offtrack Gallery. Commissions welcomed. Banner copies available after auction.

29. Donna Butnik

The Wishing Tree

I started off painting a mermaid with a palm tree hairdo over by the wishing tree between Swami's and Moonlight. The mermaid quickly turned into a version of Our Lady of Guadalupe. She gives me hope. Her appearance was a pivotal political turn for the Aztecs to accept change in their custom and put an end to the annual sacrifice of at least 20,000 men, women, and children.

Free Spirit

I've been honored to participate in Arts Alive for the last four years. Thank you for all your support, Encinitas! Alas, this will be my last year participating, as I venture forth to the other side of the country to make a new start in NC. I will be continuing my art while there, and can be found at michellehauswirth.com. Thank you all for the opportunity to make the streets of Encinitas even more beautiful!

Daenerys

The best pop culture heroes are those who show us that true power comes from total dedication to what you're doing and an unwavering commitment to others. Soon to reclaim the Iron Throne, Daenerys, the Mother of Dragons, is one kick-ass heroine.

39. Darlene Katz

Flying Frenchie!

Darlene paints all subjects: landscapes, figures, portraits and animals. A specialty is commissioned work—she enjoys capturing special moments of our lives, whether a sunset, wedding, birth, or pet with a favorite toy. Described as bold, humorous and full of movement, her unique style is recognizable in all her work. Website: www.studiokatz.com, DarleneKatzArtStudio on Facebook & artstudiokatz on Instagram.

40. Julie Kirk

Here we FlaminGO!

Being a florist born and raised in Southern California, I love the sherbet sunsets, dreamy bold colors, exotic flowers, and tropical vibes... The flamingo embodies the beachy/festive/unique feelings of our town, and I thought it would be a perfect representation of how I feel about the city I grew up in.

41. Jim McConlogue

Stone Steps Beach

A few years ago, I was commissioned to create a series of banners for downtown Encinitas. I am now adding to that collection with this year's Stone Steps Beach banner. Stone Steps is one of many great Encinitas beaches, and much loved by the locals who live nearby. This banner will soon be available as a Giclée print and poster print. 42. Patti McDuffie

Encinitas Cairns

Stacks of stones line the cliffs south of Moonlight Beach. "Cairns" comes from the Gaelic word for "heap of stones." They were originally used for grave markers, but are now often used as trail markers. Many people use them in meditation. Cairns may symbolize the thought, "Keep on a single path."

Walking With Daddy

"Walking With Daddy" is a father and daughter at the Oceanside Pier. It is a metaphor for walking with God as your Father. We are his children and He is a perfect loving Father. God is Love and he loves you.

49. Grace Swanson & Marilyn Shayegan

Splash

This banner represents a celebration of the ocean—so appropriate in San Diego's coastal landscape where dolphins play in the waves, surfers ride the crest, children explore tide pools, and onlookers enjoy the fiery hues of sunsets reflected on the sea.

46. Graham Smith

Thresher Shark

The Thresher shark is a beautiful marine creature that swims right along the coast where the Arts Alive banners hang. Threshers use their long, graceful tails to stun little fish, then eat them. Sadly, Thresher sharks were just added to the list of endangered species under the Endangered Species Act, so this banner is painted for them.

50. Tish Wynne

Valley of the Quail

The untouched southwestern landscape is a Quail's happy place. The Quail is a symbol of California's hardiness to thrive in places that may look a bit prickly and barren, but in reality, are beautiful, safe places where the Quail is free to roam and raise its family. It is important that we protect these special spaces for wildlife and nature to thrive.

Celestial Prayer

I am inspired by the natural forces within our bodies and complementary environments. This piece transmits a message of the sacredness of water and internal relationships to emotional qualities inherent in the essence of the element. The female connection to the astral bodies, earth bodies, and elemental bodies birth a continuous wellspring of vitality to be celebrated! The artist's share of the proceeds will benefit Eco Arts Foundation. ecoartsfoundation.org

Cardiff Kilroy Was Here

Inspired by the cartoon character, Kilroy, and homage to my grandfather, Lord James "Tally Ho" Blears, a British-American professional wrestler and World War II survivor. The banner depicts my grandfather's wrestling monocle and hat through the cartoon character, Kilroy. The cartoon character of "Kilroy Was Here" is an American popular culture expression that became very popular during World War II.

Stargazer Lily

Thank you, Danny & Norma Salzhandler, and Kellie Hinze, for all you do. I'm so grateful. Each year evokes a latent expression of my painting. Georgia O'Keeffe is a huge influence. On a large scale, I used the Wet into Wet technique allowing the paint to intermingle. "The Painting has a life of its own. I try to let it come through."
"Painting is self-discovery."

71. Theresa Giolzetti of YOKIBUG

Stone Steps at Sunset

Theresa, a San Diego native, her husband and their three bunnies have lived in Encinitas for 5 years. As a family, they consistently visit Stone Steps. The beach in the morning is a safe and beautiful place for the bunnies to play. Theresa has been a professional artist since childhood. Her commission artwork company, Yokibug, has become very successful in recent years. Theresa also licenses her work on Amazon.

75. Karobstudios

Our Lady

This year we chose to portray the image of the icon, "Our Lady of Guadalupe," as a beautiful symbol of hope, love, peace, and unity. It is our wish that these attributes bless us all.

Thank You!

72. Matt Hayward of Bon Chovy

The Uprising

I lived in Encinitas for 6 years before moving to Point Loma. I spent much of my free time surfing San Diego's coastline and enjoying the beach life. These days I invest much of my free time fishing our beautiful waters and have become a fanatic of the local fishery. My work focuses on the magic of the ocean, its creatures and its mystique as seen through my own eyes, with elements of a street style.

A Deer In Full Moonlight

This backward facing deer represents humanity's hope that the Great Spirit will look back at us with tolerance, affection, and encouragement, despite our disrespectful actions.

78. Tierney Moses

Leucadia #18

Tierney Moses is an artist and designer located in Southern California. Her professional life has led her to a digital painting/design career. This has allowed her to work with travel. These adventures inspire her art and have led her to paint with the intent of abstract realism.

79. Marissa Quinn

Paradox of Equinox

Equinox—when day and night are of equal length.

This piece incorporates the Sea Otter, viewed by Ancients as representative of the Spirit of Aquarius for its ability to dive deep into darkness and back up to light again. Led by the Honeybee which flies between day and night, land and water, the Otter reconciles and integrates the duality of light and dark, both within and without, as above so below—paradox.

81. Brian Seghers

My name is Brian Seghers and I own 454 Tattoo in Encinitas. I am married with 3 kids. I have been a tattooer for 17 years. Along with my love of tattooing and art, I also compete in triathlon, cycling and running races. I also do CrossFit, play golf, and recently started surfing, which I also love. Overall, I am just trying to find out how far I can push myself and accomplish something every day.

80. Brad Schneider

Go Fish

Being a tattoo artist and surfer in Encinitas now for 20 years, I drew my inspiration for the banner from my love for Japanese stylized water “finger waves” and my respect for the amazing surfboard builders who have been crafting boards in this community for the past half-century.

Thanks, Brad
